Occupational Safety & Health Policy
Tradewinds Plantation Berhad firmly believes and is fully committed to ensure, in so far as is practicable, the safety, health and welfare of all our employees and to protect them against the risks to their safety, health and welfare at their place of work.

The overall objectives shall be achieved through:

- Compliance with the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1994, and Regulations made thereunder.
- Adherence by all concerned to the Code of Practice approved by the industry.
- Regularly training and educating all concerned on health and safety measures by making them aware and practice the standards required to ensure and to promote a safe and healthy work culture.
- Providing relevant information and instructions on safety, health and welfare to all categories of employees by regularly updating and enforcing those standards and safety procedures.
- Ensuring all categories of employees to adhere to all relevant instructions given by the management in complying with the requirements of Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1994 and other related regulations currently in practice.
- Continuous effort including improvement of various policies and guidelines to ensure achievement of the above.

Every employee including contract employees understand and accepts that he/she is responsible for working safely to prevent injury to him/her and fellow employees and to protect the company’s property.
